

THE GAZETTE.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1886.

Small pox is reported in the Swedish settlement near Genoa, DeKalb county, Ill. A girl of 13 died with it on Saturday. Six members of the same family are sick with the disease, and a young woman in another family has it. The disease was brought to the place in some clothing that just came from Sweden.

The engagement is announced in Baltimore of Miss Agnes Carroll, step-daughter of J. Fenner Lee, Chicago attorney, to Anton Von Hasenhausen, a Householder and German-American. Miss Carroll is descended from Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. John Deere, president of Deere & Co.'s plow works, and the first man to use in the manufacture of plows, died at Moline, Ill., Monday evening, aged 82 years. The first plow he manufactured was made by himself in 1837, at Grand Detour, Ohio county, Ill., and although it was a crude affair, it was considered a good implement at the time. He moved to Moline in 1847 and built up the extensive works with which his name has since been identified.

Chicago elevators, as per official returns, contain 9,718,878 bushels of wheat, 2,054,635 bushels of corn, 384,174 bushels of oats, 51,174 bushels of rye, and 41,015 bushels of barley, making a grand total of 11,280,506 bushels, against 14,511,000 bushels a week ago, and 15,423,070 bushels at this period last year. Visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada: Wheat 39,350,501 bushels, corn 9,815,103 bushels, oats 1,455,011 bushels, rye 817,009 bushels, barley 117,397 bushels. During last week there was a decrease of 2,306,307 bushels of wheat, 863,708 bushels of corn, 166,004 bushels of oats, 53,553 bushels of rye, and 121,250 bushels of barley.—Chicago Journal of Tuesday.

The condition of the docket of the United States supreme court at its recent adjournment revives the feeling that something must be done by congress to remedy the condition of affairs with reference to that still old body. The number of cases disposed of in the term just completed was 32, and at the close of the term the court found itself with 900 yet ahead of it, or practically three years' work. Worse than that, the number of cases before it is greater now than at this time one year ago. In other words, the business brought before the court gradually grows upon the ability to dispose of the same, and the stack of cases awaiting action every year gets larger. It is generally believed that congress will have to take hold of the matter and either divide the court into sections, which may separately hear and pass upon cases, or else reduce the list of cases which may be appealed to that court.

A Washington correspondent writes: The Michigan democrats are mad again. And it is getting to be about their normal condition. The latest occasion for their wrath, however, is in the appointment of Mr. Severance, of Kalamazoo, to the district judgeship in the western district of Michigan. Severance is a law partner of Congressman Burrows, of Michigan, and hence the wrath. Burrows, as everybody knows, is an ardent republican. When Judge Wythoff died a couple of weeks ago, the Michigan delegation set to work to select a man for his place and agreed almost unanimously upon Judge Norris, of that state, a worthy and able gentleman. Mr. Burrows wanted to see his partner, Mr. Severance, appointed, but nobody supposed, of course, that he, a republican, could have anything to say in the selection of a democratic judge by a democratic president, especially when almost an entire democratic delegation from the state was asking the appointment of somebody else. Burrows secured the endorsement of one democratic congressman for his partner, and quietly set to work himself to pull Severance through. Just how it was accomplished is not known, but at least Mr. Severance "got there," to the intense disgust of the democratic statesmen. Mr. Burrows is one of the keenest political workers in the house, and his success in obtaining the appointment of his partner shows what an experienced politician may accomplish when he knows how.

Ex-Poetmaster Henry C. Payne, of Milwaukee, who managed the republican campaign in Wisconsin two years ago, is in Washington, and is reported to have used the following language in regard to the campaign of 1888:

"I think Blaine will be nominated, or, at least, that he can control the nomination. I opposed Blaine at Chicago because I did not believe he could be elected. I advocated Mr. Arthur's nomination because I believed that he was the only man whom we could successfully use to beat Blaine. My idea was to go to a third man."

"Have you changed your mind about Blaine?"

"I can not say that I have. I have always liked him. I opposed him then because I thought he could not be elected. Now I think that he will be nominated in 1888, and that he can be elected. You see everything has been said against him that can be said. There is nothing more to be said. I have always liked him. I opposed him then because I thought he could not be elected. Now I think that he will be nominated in 1888, and that he can be elected. You see everything has been said against him that can be said. There is nothing more to be said."

It was suggested in the Gazette more than two weeks ago that the presidential tickets for 1888, would be Blaine for the republicans and Cleveland for the democrats. Should those be the candidates, there would be no doubt as to the result. Mr. Blaine has not lost any of his strength since the campaign of 1884, when he made use of the most magnificent campaign ever seen in this country. There is no doubt the masses of the

LASHED BY LABOUCHERE.

HE GIVES CHAMBERLAIN A TERRIBLE TONGUE-BASTING.

And Tries an Experiment on the Irish.

Beneath a Biblical Comparison That Convinces the House—Indignant American and Republican Liberator—Davitt's Confidence—An Offer from America.

LONDON, May 19.—In the house of commons Tuesday evening a proposal by Gladstone that the house do vote for a resolution in that campaign, yet in spite of the many wags, the prohibitionists, the Delmonico dinner and the utterances of Barchard, a Blaine came within a thousand votes of gaining the election. Should Blaine be nominated, Cleveland's weakness will contribute largely to republican success. Mr. Cleveland is virtually without a party and yet the democrats can not but put him in nomination. They went into the campaign of 1884 with Cleveland as a pretended civil service reformer, and although he is a failure both in that sense and in the sense of being a Jacksonian democrat, they must re-nominate him, and in that case the republicans will have the field. The people have learned something in the past year, and it can be clearly seen that they would rather have the brains, courage, experience and the stalwartness of Blaine than the false pretenses of the present administration. Mr. Cleveland is neither one thing nor another, but is trying to build up a personal party while he is scattering the democratic party. It is this that will add strength to the republican campaign of 1888.

RESULTS OF THE STRIKE.

A very moderate degree of prophetic vision will enable any thinking mind to determine that the visible results of the recent labor strike had faintly outlined the final outcome of the unequalled and unexampled disturbance. From the standpoint of disaffected labor, it has accomplished for a small minority an advance in wages by shortening the hours of labor, in this measure of success no principle is established, as the demand was unjust and the compliance compulsory. Viewed from any other standpoint than the one indicated, the apparent results are most disastrous. With a prospect of anything but a successful and healthy condition in business and the unhealthy condition of the market is causing capital to withdraw from active investment, and a vast amount of money now employed by manufacturing interests will seek other channels, or retire from the field entirely.

The pottery and tile manufacturers of Akron, Ohio, employing one thousand men, have been obliged to close their works indefinitely, because of accumulation of stock with no outlet.

It is estimated that a million dollars' worth of improvements contemplated by the city of Minneapolis, have been abandoned for the season, because of the labor troubles.

Chicago alone announces that she will turn loose fifty thousand during the summer, and yet in the face of these facts, men, who ought to possess more sense, are found who encourage and participate in a strike, professing to believe that capital is their bitter enemy, and in some way, by force if necessary, must yield to their unreasonable demands. This class of men profess loyalty and would resent as a personal insult any intimation of sympathy with unrelenting, failing to recognize the kindred spirit of rebellion which prompts a disposition to distribute capital with a lawless hand.

The results of the eight hour movement which precipitated the strike, ending in bloodshed will be more and more apparent in the months to come. Many an innocent man who was content to work and satisfied with his compensation, will be deprived of the privilege. Many of the eight hour advocates will be glad of an opportunity to work ten hours for less wages than ever before. Many comfortable homes will realize the pinching of want because of enforced idleness. Capital will not be responsible for these unfortunate conditions, nor will the great mass of workers, who by honest work and healthy economy comprise the class from which capitalists are created. Wisdom would dictate a halt to the comparatively small element of wage workers who comprise the disaffected laborers. A general disposition of loyalty to employers would do much to restore confidence and avert impending evil. What we need to leave as laborers is that capital is simply the result of hard earnings saved, not wasted, and within the grasp of every man possessing a disposition to acquire it.

The New York Tribune in a recent editorial on "Saving, Daring, Not Striking," says that of the $600,000,000 spent annually in this country for drink, at least one-half of the amount is furnished from the wages of the laboring classes, and then very pertinently adds:

"The man who cannot practice self-denial will never be rich, though the hours of labor should be reduced one-half, and the current wages be increased a hundred per cent."

Every working man who has passed middle life with average opportunities has earned enough for a comfortable living and a competency. Instead of envying the man who has lived, and saved, while we have simply lived, let us spend more time in imitating his example and less in an effort to destroy the most reliable friend of labor. Ten years of careful economy would transform a vast army of wage workers to independent capitalists.

An Excellent Caterer Rewarded Amply.

Mr. Lutz, a restaurant keeper at No. 8 Williams Court for nineteen years past, and caterer for the well-known Sherman House in Court Square, was in no particular need of the money which he received for one dollar spent in one-fifth of ticket No. 25,244 in the April drawing of "The Louisiana State Lottery," but he will take good care of it. He is an old member of the Society of Elks, and a past commander of Post 21, G. A. R.—Boston (Mass.) Commercial and Shipping List, April 23.

CLOSE CALL FOR A HOLOGRAST.

Gasoline Takes Fire in a Theatre—A Wild Panic with Fatal Results.

CONSUMING, Ohio, May 18.—During a performance given by A. C. Adams' "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company at Westerville, twelve miles north of this city, Tuesday night, a member of the cast accidentally struck one of the gasoline lights, branding it off, and allowing the gasoline to ignite, and the flames at once shot up to the ceiling. The audience of over 400 was at once thrown into the wildest excitement, and there was a general rush to reach the door. The manager at once grabbed the gasoline can and made an attempt to throw it out of a window, but finding the window closed he rushed to the hall entrance, and, coming badly burned, as the flames had already developed him, he was obliged to throw the can into the entrance, which cut off all egress. The terror-stricken people piled up several deep, and the appearance for a time was that there would be great loss of life, but a couple of cool heads succeeded in staying the stampede, and many lives were thus saved. A majority of the audience were children, and several of them who were overcome in flames were saved by the older men lowering clothing about them and smothering the fire.

Among the injured the worst are as follows: Harry Evans, fatally burned on the head and face, and the hands were an unsightly injury. William Evans, New Paris, Ohio, seriously burned about the face and hands. He can not recover. Will the Prager, face, body and limbs burned and recognized. Ada Mackley, burned and cut in the face. Her injuries are serious. E. L. McCune, wife and child, face and hands badly burned. Walter A. Sherr, leg and hand badly burned. The latter was a cripple. J. H. McCune, badly injured in the spine; he will be a cripple. Mrs. C. A. Adams, of the troupe, branded and burned in such a manner that she will not be able to continue in the troupe. A dozen or more were painfully and, in some cases, seriously injured by burns and by being crushed in the crowd.

The loss to property was insignificant.

FRIGHTFUL HUMAN SACRIFICE.

A Religion-Crazed Woman Slaughters Her Three Children and Herself.

WATERLOO, N. Y., May 18.—A terrible murder and suicide occurred Monday night in Lincoln county, this state, and was reported here Tuesday. Mrs. Margaret Down, a widow, became crazed from religious fanaticism and said she had been called upon by the Lord to sacrifice the lives of herself and three children to satisfy the Divine wrath.

Early in the evening she prostrated herself upon her knees, and after spending several hours in wild ravings, weeping and praying, she arose with a large sharp carving knife made her way to the room occupied by her three daughters, aged 12, 10 and 5 years. The woman cut the throats of each child, and then plunged the reeking blade deep into her own breast. The bodies were discovered Tuesday by neighbors, who stated that the room was so bespattered with blood as to greatly resemble a slaughter-house.

A GUSHER PROVES A SMASHER.

And Knocks the Bottom Out of the Petroleum Market.

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—The Vanderbilt No. 1, on the farm in Washington county, which continues to gush forth oil at the rate of 5,000 barrels per day, proved very demoralizing to the oil market Tuesday morning. This well is now the largest flowing oil well in the world, and is the fifth largest ever struck in Pennsylvania. The market was extremely panicky, opening at 70¢, and at 11:30 clock selling at 67¢ cents, and this price 200,000 barrels were sold in one hour for the account of Craig & Lowry, the well-known brokers and extensive producers. The oil was bought by Standard Oil Company, and the market ran high at the exchange, and other failures are likely to occur.

Moving from Clover Union with the K. of C. PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—The secret circular issued by J. J. McGuire, of Cleveland, Ohio, general secretary of the Irish-American League, and calling for a conference of the Irish-American League of the United States, was received here Tuesday. The conference has for its object the adoption of a plan for a closer alliance with the Knights of Labor. It is believed that the delegates who desire to check the strike breeding element will arrive at a harmonious understanding with the Knights of Labor. A bill of grievances against the Knights of Labor was submitted by the delegates, which will be forwarded to the Cleveland, Ohio, convention. A committee of five was appointed to draft a plan for a "test agreement" with the Knights of Labor and the union.

Strengthening the German Frontier.

BREITENBURG, May 18.—The German war department has issued a number of circulars to the army and navy, and has ordered in which parts of these provinces the increase of the garrisons is necessary. There are rumors circulating that a considerable increase of the garrisons in Alsace and Lorraine will take place in a very short time. Berlin papers account for this impending increase of the garrisons by referring to the recent speech of the French secretary of war, who expressed his belief in a new era of glory in the near future for the French army. This, with the present cool relations between France and Germany, is thought to account for the proposed increase.

Found the Aerolite.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—After months of search Professor Foxhall, of the University of Wisconsin, has discovered the aerolite which fell in Washington county, Sept. 18, 1885. It was found in a field near the town of Foxhall. The aerolite is a small, dark, irregularly shaped mass, and is composed of a mixture of iron, nickel, and copper. It is the largest aerolite ever found in this country.

How Utter Will He Hold Down.

LONDON, May 18.—The Morning Post says the government does not intend to renew the arms act, but will listen to a second reading of a bill relating to the possession of arms in New and elsewhere in Ireland.

The Negro Will Be Nipped.

HONOLULU, May 18.—A letter to the Honolulu Herald from Honolulu, N. H., announces the death of Plymouth White, alias Frank Parker, alias Phil White, the notorious confidence man, at his brother's residence in that town Sunday night, from a carbuncle on the neck, at the age of 34. White was in the front rank of confidence men, and, and, by his oily tongue and gentlemanly manners, succeeded in the last twenty-two years in fleecing business men, gambling gamblers, and the general public of more than $150,000. He was a very clever and daring man, and was often referred to as "the white man" at large, or expanded in the gratification of very expensive tastes.

—Justice A. D. Wickham this morning united Mr. John Podesta, of Chicago, Illinois, and Miss Mary A. Johnston, of Monroe, this state, in the holy bonds of matrimony.

—The Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church is now at work on an autograph that is to be given in the near future. The exact date or the place has not yet been fixed upon.

—Mrs. Mary Garrison, who was burned Saturday, at Beloit, died ten minutes past 12 o'clock Tuesday. She remained conscious much of the time since the awful accident, and suffered very little pain.

—The members of Rescue Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1 will hold a special meeting at 7:30 o'clock to-morrow evening, to consider important business. Every member is requested to be in attendance.

—This year the agency for the Excelsior Harvester will be with A. D. Nott, who has had much experience in this line of business. The machine is manufactured at Miamisburg, Ohio, and is well spoken of wherever used.

—Last evening Miss Julia Craven, of the fourth ward, entertained a number of her friends at progressive euchre. All enjoyed themselves thoroughly. During the evening refreshments were served by W. A. Skinner, the east side caterer, that were fully appreciated by the guests.

—The American express office presents a much better appearance since the painting and carpenters have visited it. Carpenters have also been at work enlarging the checking and storage room; and before long the office will be one of the handsomest and most convenient in this part of the state.

—A. Larson, A. M. Ballard, J. C. Shumway, C. W. Smith, James A. Smith, G. A. Jackson, R. O. Briggs, and O. C. Brew, Chicago; J. T. Jacobson, La Crosse; T. E. Schoofner and Guy H. Nash of Rockford; O. E. Skinner, of Watertown and J. E. Rowland of Milwaukee are at the Grand.

—The funeral of Ethel Ide daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Ide, was held this afternoon at four o'clock from the home of the bereaved parents. Little Ethel was universally beloved for her cheerful, winning ways, and at the services this afternoon sincere sympathy for the bereaved parents was seen in every face.

—This morning Justice Pritchard gave a decision for the defendant in the case of Horn against Drummond. The suit was to recover for damages caused by a runaway of Mr. Drummond's horses, but the evidence failed to show that he was guilty of any negligence, or that he did not exercise due care in handling his team.

—This morning Judge Bennett charged the jury in the case of Leavitt against the Chicago & Northwestern railway company. The verdict has not yet been brought in. To-day the case of Addy against the city of Janesville, is on trial.

—Ogden H. Pethers and Wilson Lane being for the plaintiff, and City Attorney Pierce for the defendant.

—Justice Thomas M. Cooley, of the supreme court of Michigan, is giving his attention to the labor troubles, and is preparing an article on arbitration for the July number of the Forum. A writer combining so much legal knowledge with so wide an experience in practical affairs ought to be able to make some useful suggestions.

—An invitation was received last night by Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias, from W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., to participate in the ceremonies of Decoration Day. The invitation was accepted and the lodge decided to turn out on that day in full uniform and mounted. This will be an attractive feature of the procession, as this lodge is in condition to turn out a large number of men on such occasions.

—This morning at St. Patrick's church was held the funeral of the late Mrs. Maurice Buckley. A large number of friends were assembled at the church to pay tribute to the memory of one who all through life battles had a kind word for every one, and deep sorrow was visible on every face. The service was conducted by the Rev. Father McGinley, and the interment took place at the Catholic cemetery.

—Beloit Free Press: Our Rock county boys must wake up. At this season we frequently read in our State exchanges of boys finding wolves' nests with any, where from life to eight young wolves in them, which they make haste to carry to the county treasurer, who pays them ten dollars a "skelp." Isn't it most time for that Union chap to harvest his usual spring wolf crop? It will be rough on him if some fool-hunter knocked the old dame over last winter with a rifle ball.

—A married woman's rights under the statute regarding the holding of property are being discussed before Justice Wickham this afternoon. The case is that of Herman Bachholz against Herman Schultz and his wife, Paulina Schultz. Last winter Schultz bought a sleigh of the plaintiff giving a note signed by him, self and wife. When the note was presented it was learned that Mrs. Schultz owned all the property that belonged in the family and she flatly refused to pay claiming that her property could not be taken to pay her husband's debts. When confronted with the note she still refused, claiming that her signature was only there as an accommodation and that on her part there was no consideration, the sleigh being only used by her husband.

J. B. Doe and F. M. Scanlon represent the plaintiff, and William Street the defendant.

COMMISSIONERS AT WORK.

Some Discoveries Relating to the Artesian Well.

When the artesian well on the fair grounds was sunk a number of people at once became strong supporters of artesian water. They insisted that no other water that could be found was equal to that which flowed in a clear, unpolluted stream from far down underground. No amount of talk could shake this belief, and for a year or two past several of the more enthusiastic ones have had all their drinking water brought down in legs from the grounds of the agricultural society. It was considerable trouble, but then, they knew just what they were getting, and could drink it without any fear of trouble from animalcules and decomposed organic matter.

A few days ago the board of water commissioners decided to have this water which they have heard so much about, analyzed. A long pipe was taken to the spot and lowered into the well so that only the parot water, drawn from where the artesian well flows into the old dug well, should be taken. As the pipe reached the bottom it struck something soft and impelled by curiosity the commissioners sent for a grappling hook so that they might investigate a little.

The hook was brought, and a few minutes of skillful angling by the philosopher of the party brought to view a large rabbit in very bad shape. It was bloated so that even its most intimate friends would not recognize it, and, as one commissioner suggested, it was a terrible example of watered stock. Another cast of the hook and another rabbit was brought up into the glad May sunshine, while the board speedily adjourned.

About two hours afterward one of the party met an artesian well enthusiast, who lives up in the third ward. After a few minutes' conversation he remarked coolly: "Say, I don't see why it is that you think so much of that artesian water; what is there about it that goes ahead of ordinary cistern water?"

"Why man!" ejaculated the other, "I wouldn't do without it for a hundred dollars. In hot dusty weather it seems almost like food. Mineral water or any other kind is nowhere compared to it."

"Well I should think that it might be something like food—soop for instance?" remarked the doubter reflectively as he went on to tell what he had seen. A look of horror spread over the third ward man's face, and grasping convulsively at his stomach, he whispered in faint tones, "Let's go and get something." It is safe to say that artesian water will lose much of its popularity in the city unless a separate well is dug for rabbits to bathe in.

SERVICES APPRECIATED.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 55 degrees above zero. Clear, with northeast wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 61 degrees above zero. Clear with south, west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 53 and 54 degrees above zero.

EVANSVILLE.

—Miss Ida Roberts left on Monday afternoon for Milwaukee, where she will visit her sister for a short time.

—Lou and Lottie Waters commenced a week's engagement at Magee's hall Monday night. They give a 35 cent show for 10 cents.

—About all of the tobacco is sold in this section.

—The Congressional society will have an entertainment at Magee's hall Thursday evening, May 27th.

—Daniel Howley sold his first National mining stock last Saturday, making $313 since the 1st of Jan. The mine is situated about three miles from Burley, and is said to be one of the best mines on the range.

—The agent of the Wisconsin Telephone company will visit this place in about three weeks, to which he can be directed towards getting a telephone at this place. It is about time that the citizens of this place wake up and see if they can't be as enterprising as our neighboring town of Fulton.

—There was a meeting at the town hall Tuesday evening to appoint a committee to make arrangements for decoration day.

ATTOR.

—Geo. H. Palmer had the misfortune to lose one of his horses on Sunday last. Rather wet weather lately for those engaged in agricultural pursuits.

—Mr. E. E. Burdick, the well known artist of Janesville, was in the village a few days last week on a fishing expedition.

STREET CARS.

The Janesville Street Railway Company Commence the Building of Their Track

From the Passenger Depot on Academy Street, Thence to the Myers House.

Other Lines and Branches to be Constructed This Season.

Items of Public Interest Connected with the Car Line.

The readers of the Gazette will remember that on November 23d, 1885, the common council of this city passed an ordinance granting certain franchises to the Janesville Street Railway company; that on the 5th of December following the railway company formally accepted the ordinance, and filed a copy of the acceptance with the city clerk on December 7th. On December 15th the Janesville Street Railway company concluded an agreement with Mr. Stephen G. Clark and other capitalists, of Chicago, for the building, equipment and operating the road. It was then announced through the Gazette, on authority of the officers of the local company, that work on the proposed road would be commenced early in the spring. Here the matter dropped for a time from public notice, except now and then brief allusions to "street railways" in the papers. In the meantime the managers of the railway company were quietly attending to their own business, purchasing the material, and completing arrangements to commence the construction of the line as soon as it could be reached. Mr. Stephen G. Clark, who is the main stockholder in the company, is also largely interested in similar enterprises in other cities, and at the time he entered into the agreement to build and operate the Janesville road, was constructing a line in the city of Lansing, Mich., which, owing to sickness at himself and family, and the labor trouble in Chicago and St. Louis, he was delayed in completing. The Lansing road is now about completed and soon his attention will be given to our line. Mr. Clark was in the city yesterday with the local officers of the company made a personal survey and inspection of the streets through which the tracks will be laid, and last evening arrangements were concluded to commence operations at once. The Gazette, this morning, is able to announce that the work has already been commenced, and that the lumber for the building of the first mile of road is being distributed along Academy street from the passenger depot to Milwaukee street, thence down Milwaukee street to the Myers house, which will constitute the first section of the Janesville street railway. The iron for the entire road is already purchased, and is on the way to this city. It will not be many days before Janesville can boast of a street railway.

This mile of road completed and put in operation the company will commence the building of the other sections, which, according to the present plan, will be about as follows:

SECOND DIVISION—Commencing at a point near the fair grounds, on Milton avenue, thence down that avenue to East Milwaukee street, thence to the Myers house, connecting with the first division, to the passenger depot.

THIRD DIVISION—Main street.

FOURTH DIVISION—Commencing at Milwaukee street at the Grand Hotel, south on High street to Cherry street, south on Cherry to Western avenue west on Western avenue to the vicinity of the cotton and woolen mills.

FIFTH DIVISION—This section will extend from some point on West Milwaukee street to the cemetery, the exact line is not yet being decided, perhaps it will be on Franklin street, in order that the track will pass under instead of over the tracks of the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul companies' tracks.

The majority of the stock of this company will be held by outside capitalists, and therefore the company will be re-organized in accordance with their views. The present company consists of:

President—Henry Palmer.

Vice President—W. T. Van Kirk.

Secretary—J. A. Leland.

Treasurer—P. Norcross.

Directors—Hon. Palmer, W. T. Van Kirk, Wm. A. Lawrence, Volney Atwood, P. Norcross.

It is not known just what changes will be made in the company, but it is certain that some of those now connected with it will "step down and out" to make room for the Chicago gentlemen.

We trust the building of this road will be the commencement of a boom in our city, and we see no reason why such should not be the case. For the completion of this railway the water commissioners will undoubtedly be in readiness to commence work on the "water plank," and the work on the Evansville "cut off" ought to make a lively boom if such a thing is possible.

We congratulate the secretary of the Janesville street railway company, Mr. J. A. Leland, who first projected the idea of constructing this road, for the good judgment he exercised in associating himself with such representative and public spirited men as Messrs. Palmer, Lawrence, Van Kirk, Atwood and Norcross, in carrying out and completing this enterprise. If it should not result financially beneficial to them they will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have accomplished a thing that will be a great benefit to the city and outside property owners, whose thanks they should heartily receive, as well as the liberal patronage of the moving public.

The track of the company will be the one now in common use in other cities—4½ feet wide. The cars are being procured from the shops at St. Louis, and will be of the modern pattern. The labor troubles in St. Louis may delay somewhat the procuring of these cars, but Mr. Clark is of the opinion that they will be here in time to place on the tracks within the next thirty days.

I take pleasure in saying that I have had no return of rheumatism since taking Adolphors in May, 1883. I have recommended it frequently and generally with good result, as others will attest its efficiency. Josiah White, New Paris, O.

BAPTIST MISSIONS.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist Church meet in Sewall's parlors.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Janesville Baptist association met at the Baptist church last evening. There was a good attendance and much interest was manifested. The meeting was opened by singing. A portion of scripture was read by the Rev. M. G. Dodge, D. D., and after that remarks were made by the Rev. Thomas J. Walker, the Rev. W. P. Brown, and the Rev. J. F. Conover, D. D. There were also recitations by David Tennant and Miss Lizzie Thompson. There were present delegates from Clinton and other places. This morning a ladies' meeting was held and at 2:30 this afternoon the closing session of the meeting was called to order. The growth in missionary work, shown by the different reports made, is very gratifying to those who are interested in the subject, and they begin on another six months of work in this good cause with renewed determination.

NEW MEAT MARKET.

While in Monterey recently a Gazette reporter took occasion to look through the new building recently erected by Mr. J. M. Bray, for the corner of Western and Center avenues, on the premises formerly occupied by the Mokey block. Mr. Bray has six lots on Western avenue and on the corner he has erected a spacious two story building, the lower portion of which he has converted to his own use and yesterday opened one of the cleanest and best arranged meat markets in the city. Everything is first class about the establishment, and the best that money could buy. He has one of Shupplett & Norris' large coolers which he has improved by making it double, so that meat may be kept several days without air getting at it in the rear of the market proper is an office, and at the rear of the office, his manufacturing apartment with sausage machine, lard press, sausage stuffer, and everything used about an establishment of this kind. Mr. Bray has secured the services of a capable butcher, Mr. Oscar Shieler, who will serve the patrons of the new firm in a perfectly satisfactory manner. Mr. Bray hopes by fair dealing and keeping as good a quality of stock as can be secured to receive a liberal share of the public patronage.

The upper portion of the building he has fitted up for living rooms, and are for rent. They will make very pleasant quarters. Mr. Bray has put in a public watering trough in front of his building and will have his market connected by telephone in a few days. This will be handy for persons living in that vicinity and the Gazette has nothing but the best of good wishes for the new proprietor.

DISOLUTION.

The co-partnership which existed between Barr Robbins, R. L. Colvin and George K. Steele, under the firm name of Barr Robbins & Co., was dissolved on the eighth day of January, 1888, Barr Robbins assuming all liabilities and retaining all property belonging to the firm.—Dated January 8, 1888.

TRAINING THE INFANT.

Adjutant General Chapman has issued the following order or address:

STATE OF WISCONSIN, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, Madison, May 18, 1888.

General Order No. 26.

The commander-in-chief takes pleasure in expressing to the officers and men of the Wisconsin National Guard, recently on duty in Milwaukee, his high appreciation of the promptness, efficiency and faithfulness with which they responded to his order to active service.

Called as you were from the varied occupations of civil life at a moment's notice, you furnished with almost incredible celerity the solid, disciplined, soldierly force, without which your commander-in-chief would have been unable to restore the reign of law and order to the commercial metropolis of our state.

Patiently enduring the exposure and discomforts inseparable from such a rapid movement, conducting yourselves with such admirable discipline and self-control, under all the vicissitudes of the most delicate and difficult duty, a soldier can be called upon to perform, you have well earned the profound gratitude of the state and country.
